

YOUTH ORGANIZE! CALIFORNIA

530 South Boyle Ave
Los Angeles, CA 90033

Senior Capacity Building Director

Job Description

Organization Overview

Youth Organize! California (YO! Cali), a 501c3 nonprofit organization, is a statewide network of grassroots youth organizations committed to expanding and growing the strategic, professional, and socio-emotional power and political analysis of young people and youth organizers across the state. We cultivate transformative youth organizing to generate long-term transformation in our communities. We strengthen the youth organizing ecosystem and grow the capacities of organizations to build power in deep alignment towards a shared vision of liberation, healing, and justice. We invest in sustainable leadership pathways that center the voices and experiences of the most impacted young people, nurturing a bold, multi-issue movement.

Position Overview

The Senior Capacity Building Director is the lead strategist responsible for developing and driving our Capacity Building Strategy across the state, strengthening our network members' culture and craft in organizing and building power, and expanding youth organizer pathways. The Director will lead a team of staff members and consultants to design & deliver our core training, programming, and focused support to Youth Organizing Groups in the field. The Capacity Building Director will work with the field and network partners to gain a deeper understanding of the core training needs, explore & design programming, opportunities, and collaborations that build and strengthen organizing skills, strategy, capacity, and sustainability of organizers, organizations, and the next generation of youth organizers to be more effective, durable, and powerful.

In addition, they will work closely with our Senior Director, Power Building & Manager, Healing Justice to execute and drive strategy and implement our strategic plan and long-term power-building vision. Success in this role requires a visionary & innovative leader capable of setting a clear strategic direction, stewarding a team in implementation, and cultivating offerings that offer breadth and depth in the field.

The Senior Director, Capacity Building reports to YO! Cali's Co-Executive Director. The position is a full-time, exempt position (40 hours per week) based in California. In all duties and responsibilities, this position exercises discretion and independent judgment.
